Agile Project Management

How to deliver Projects successfully in Agile?

Scrum of Scrum meetings

- Scrum of Scrum integrates the work of multiple teams working together on the same project.
- It allows teams to communicate with each other about the work they are doing and connect the dots.

Participants

- One member from each team: Scrum Master or a designated team member from each team (that means any member can attend these meetings)
- When a specific topic requires the participation of a specific team member, that team member can participate along with Scrum Master or another team member from his/her team

Frequency

- Minimum once a week
- Teams may conduct meetings daily or twice a week if required.

Timebox

- Not limited to 15 minutes as Daily Scrum
- Teams can decide on agreeable timebox if required

Questions

- The following questions are answered by each team member:
 - What has my team accomplished since our last meeting?
 - What problems occurred, if any, that negatively affected my team?
 - What does my team want to accomplish before we meet again?
 - What output from my team in future Sprints will be seen as possibly interfering with the work of other teams?
 - Does my team see any interference problems coming from the work of other teams?
